Oregon Wool Interests

[From the Albany Journal]

A few weeks ago, some of the papers of this valley mentioned the foul condition of several invoices of wool shipped from this State to the Mission Woolen Mills at San Francisco, but as it was reported that the State Agricultural Society would take some action in regard to this fraud which was bringing dishonor upon the State we thought proper to remain silent until the Society should take the initiative It seems they never noticed the matter and the scoundrelism which has depressed the market and almost stopped the sale of one of the great staples of the State is allowed to stalk unbranded of at least public scorn

We supposed they would take means to get the names of the several unworthy wool growers and post them throughout the coast, and recommend some legislative action to prevent the like frauds in the future They have done nothing in the premises and those interested in wool production must revive an interest in the matter if they wish to realize themselves fairly in markets out of the State

Last summer Messrs McCully and Paxton of Salem, two gentlemen who have the most sincere and direct interests in the material prosperity of Oregon and indeed of the whole coast without any object of personal profit took the agency to disburse about $100,000 in the purchase of wool for the San Francisco manufactories They were to receive only 2½ per cent, which would merely cover the bare charges of the agency their object being to put the cash in the farmers' pockets instead of being compelled to sell to local merchants in most instances for trade at reduced prices

Along the Willamette river they established pull. agencies at the principal towns and landings and furnish bagging which was taken and packed in most instances by the wool growers When wool to the amount of about $86 400 had reached San Francisco they received notice by telegraph that it was being received in the most fraudulent condition Thinking there must be something exaggerated and mistaken on the part of their San Francisco correspondents, Messrs Patton and McCully both started for California, and when they arrived there gentlemen found, to their dismay, that the half had not been told them! About twenty Chinamen were set to work overhauling the whole lot, and thus of tags and ardure were taken from the mass—besides lots being watered to add to the weight which destroyed the fibre and rendered the wool comparatively useless for any purpose In some instances over one pound tags were affixed to five pound fleeces The consignors were, they say, at all their commissions and the San Francisco dealers claim a further reclamation of about $2,000.

The purchasers at San Francisco will hereafter refuse to make any contract for the purchase of Oregon wool unless twenty five per cent of the price is left in their hands for contingent reclamations Their calculation was next year to make arrangements to purchase the entire wool crop of Oregon, which would have opened a competition with the local mills, and kept the price of this staple at the fullest rates As it is, they have withdrawn all orders, and next season producers will be in the hands of a limited home market and outside speculators, who can and will keep the prices at the lowest point

This fraud strikes at the heart of the productive industry of the State and if not provided against, repetition, in the future may involve the loss of millions to wool growers alone, especially those who honorably secure and labor in producing and shipping this staple.

The remedy seems only by a rigid inspection law, so as no fraudulently packed lots shall leave the State to poison the outside markets. Every producer should be obliged to mark his name upon the packages, and a State inspector should reside at Portland, who would be empowered to enforce certain proper conditions of shipment We hope the next Legislature will take some action upon this important measure There are also other products of this State that would be greatly benefitted by some wholesome inspection at home ports and we hope that every one interested in the prosperity of the State will look upon this as paramount legislation at the next session of Oregon law makers

Soldiers' Monument

The following, relating to a monument erected in the Court House square of Grant county, Wisconsin, and dedicated to the memory of the soldiers of that county who fell fighting for liberty, will be read with particular interest by many families from Grant county now residing on this coast The monument was dedicated on the 4th of July last, on which occasion an appropriate oration was delivered by General H. E Paine The Milwaukie Sentinel says

The people started a subscription last spring for the purpose of erecting a monument to the memory of the soldiers of Grant county who perished for the country during the late war, and the result was the beautiful obelisk which now adorns the court house square, saying to the stranger who passes by, "Thus it is that Grant honors her patriot dead!" The monument consists of a main shaft, which, with its pedestal and base, stands twenty five feet high, and is surmounted by eight lesser columns each of which is a square shaft, having for a capital a block, supporting a sculptured cannon. Upon the eight columns are inscribed the names of all the soldiers of Grant county who died or were killed during the war, the regiment and company of each being given Upon the east front of the principal column in the center is the following inscription

"Dedicated to the memory of the brave soldiers of Grant county, who fell in defense of unmerited liberty in the great rebellion of 1861. The marble contains their names—the many bloody battle-fields of the South contain their ashes—their memory is forever enshrined in the hearts of their country men."

Upon the south front is a relievo of a slave whose manacles have been broken, and who is raising hands in exultation and thankfulness Beneath it is the motto, from the Emancipation Proclamation

"*I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves * * are and henceforth shall be free.*"

Upon the west front are carved four sheathed sabres, crossed, and underneath them the some what dubious couplet

Go stranger, to your country tell
For her we fought, we're buried where we fell."

The north front contains, under a carved anchor and wreath, the following appropriate passage from Lincoln's address at the dedication of the Gettysburg cemetery

"We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain that the nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that the government of the people by the people and for the people, shall not perish from this earth."

Surmounting the whole as a capital to the central shaft, is the American eagle * * * The material of the columns is the best of Vermont marble whose whiteness is not even dimmed by contrast with the freshly fallen snow that lies around The bases are of Illinois marble The design and execution of the whole work is excellent reflecting credit upon the Wisconsin artist (S D Wright, of Whitewater) who furnished the monument The cost of the affair was $4 000 It is the first thing of the kind that has been erected in Wisconsin, though it is not likely to be the last

Gen Grant and President Johnson

[From the Albany Journal Sept 30th]

The American papers now to hand show us the grounds upon which the statement was founded, that Gen Grant has refused to carry out the Presidential order for the removal of Gen Sheridan from New Orleans The telegram went too far when Grant did not refuse to obey the order but he protested against it The correspondence which passed between the President and himself on the subject is the public property It shows in the plainest, honest good sense, the views held and the wrong he side-issues Mr Johnson were raised against him Never has a man well balanced his mind for a finer opening, than did Grant at the close of the war to lift from that which the new Secretary of War offered to the President It was not in the line of his political opponents who were giving him advice On the contrary it was the very line which Mr Johnson had himself chosen It was the important office Secretary of War which Grant was hardly induced to accept by the President, that of the party next before the people with such principles they would be beaten at the polls by over 20 000 majority He said they had been strumming long enough, and it was now time for them to take a broad stand for true Democratic principles These were opposition to the tax of opposition to paying the public debt in gold opposition to all laws restraining the sale of liquors any more than any other article of merchandise and resistance of States rights and of the principle that all the national bonds should be taxed The last appeal of Mr McKeon's views created so much alarm among the leaders, that for a time they were unable to make any movement This was followed Mr McKeon and Mr Lawrence of Queens to offer amendments embodying one of these principles, to wit, that the public debt should be paid in currency, but as soon as it was read Judge B Hawkins took the floor, and told the Convention that if they passed it, they would lay themselves open to the suspicion that they wanted to repudiate the National Debt He thought the party had better wait until it got power and then it could carry out the principles it thought best for the country. This speech of Hawkins stemmed the tide, and members soon gave evidence that they had better adopt his plan, even if it was the dishonest one A motion was made to table Mr McKeon's amendment asserting that greenbacks were as good as gold in payment of public debts and it was carried, after which President Seymour through Secretary Perrin, prepared a counter amendment which promised that when the Democratic party gained power it would make the currency equal in value to gold This was carried and tacked on to the second resolution which favors equality of taxation, or in other words that bonds should be taxed like other property

NEW YORK HERALD'S MISREPRESENTATION.—The following shows how English some of the President's supporters can talk

The Herald's correspondent writes Should the Radicals attempt the suspension of the President, I am assured Mr Johnson will resist In such an event serious trouble must result Even the introduction of a resolution for suspension and the attempt to pass it, would be regarded by the President as a casus belli It is said that the President would not even sign such a resolution to pass He would regard its presentation as a revolutionary act and would immediately issue a proclamation representing that an attempt was about to be made to dispose him unlawfully He would adjourn the two Houses and call upon the army and navy to support him Will the army and navy respond? Has Lee had to fight Grant, pestered and harassed as he was under keeps his own counsel He says nothing and lets such rule claims him as an ally The executives pretend he was already invested with them while the radicals on the other hand put forth bluffs on in relation to Sherman Sheridan and Stanton and his correspondence with the President thereon and subsequent letters of refusal to act with them I am inclined to think that the retirement of the General in Chief is not owing to gallantry to a desire to conceal his real sentiment but simply to the fact that he intends to guide himself by circumstances should the President propose Congress before the passage of a resolution of suspension Grant will then probably assert that he feels himself bound to obey the orders of Mr Johnson But should old Congress succeed in passing a resolution of suspension and elect Wade President ad interim then Grant will look to Wade for directions and become the servant of Congress

A HUMAN BODY PETRIFIED.—A woman, wife of a blacksmith who formerly lived on Broadway, and who died some seventeen years ago was interred in one of the burial grounds on the hill East week her friends went there for the purpose of removing the body Upon opening the grave, the coffin crumbled to pieces and the body lay there as when it was first laid The skin was black, and covered with a substance similar to stone and presented a moldy appearance On feeling the body it was found to be quite hard, and a further examination revealed the fact that it was petrified The black surface was scraped off the skin, when the latter presented a beautiful white appearance, similar to that of our marble This is a truly remarkable circumstance and clients the wonder of all who have heard of it Our informant says a case in which a child of his was inclosed, and which had been in the earth twenty years appeared as well as the day it was placed in the ground—Albany (N Y) Knicker bocker

ENTERPRISING JOURNALISM.—A New York correspondent says the Herald claims to expend $1,000 000 per annum, and the Tribune and Times about $1,000,000 each in the publication of their journals

Robberies at Idaho City

The World of the 23d has the following

During the past ten days the light fingered gentry in our midst have been stimulated to preparatory exertions for approaching winter—and as a consequence their efforts have produced the departure of various parcels of portable property, such as clothes, jewelry, and in some instances, cash An utter disregard of ownership or position marks the result of their operations and they have taken from the careless and careful, as occasion offered, or want suggested—from the dainty job of stripping a clothes line, to the heavy work of robbing a store

One day last week the clothes line of Geo. Gans was relieved of its contents by some one evidently desirous of a simple replenishment of wardrobe and took freshly washed to save labor and time.

On last Wednesday night the cabin of Louis Wagner was entered and robbed of a watch and one hundred dollars The evidence in this case indicate an unprincipled sequisitiveness, not even tempered by caution but let us in charity and congratulation admit that he availed money to leave with, and has left, hoping he may be caught and punished, even if a little time shall have intervened.

The house of J. Crosier was broken on Friday night last, and robbed of a pistol and a few dollars in money The intention was evidently to know the contents of the house, for they ransacked it entirely, although but little was taken.

On Friday, the 18th, the Mayors brothers were paid attention to by the "sneakmen," and relieved of about $125 worth of property, at their residence.

During the temporary absence of John Plancich from his vegetable depot, on last Saturday night, some one entered his cellar, unlocked his treasure drawer and took therefrom what he got hold of An inventory of his effects since the absence of gold dust, coin, and jewelry, to the aggregate value of $150. It seems the work of one acquainted, and is not creditable to any accomplishment of a temporary wavering of [illegible] ment. It was daylight and any [illegible] by fear of retribution and unrestrained by proper reverence of Christianity's emblem, for among the jewelry was a most beautiful Catholic emblem, and John says he will give fifty dollars to any one who will deliver the jewelry to him and he will ask no questions.

But the last one excels them all in audacity, skill, and amount stolen. On Monday night the store of Isaacs Bros., on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, was entered and robbed of gold dust to the value of over two thousand dollars The thieves effected an entrance by taking the brick from the foundation wall with a pick or chisel The dirt had been removed from the foundation in preparing for the addition of an adjoining building, and the bricks were yet soft from the contact with the damp soil, enabling the burglars to quickly and noiselessly displace them One of the brick to admit a large sized man into the store. From thence they gained access to the store room above, and there obtained the money. Nothing but money is known to have been taken, and the robbery was not discovered until the store was opened in the morning.

It is one of the most extensive robberies of the kind ever committed in this city, and shows the presence in our midst, of those willing and able to plan and nerve and skill to execute the coup "crack a crib" or pilfer a till, and in no one case, even when I staid in a safe.

THE MORMONS.—The Mormons [illegible] say that the "Saints" are the [illegible] to fill [illegible] Jackson county, Mo [illegible] It is [illegible] we believe, that [illegible] at the present day, a number of Latter day Saints are now [illegible] and there is nothing improbable in [illegible] something down in that "neck" We [illegible] it as a favorable place to locate in [illegible] Utah, with all the latter's advantages In a well [illegible] this subject, the [illegible] as follows:

We see nothing [illegible] in the fulfillment of this notion of their ultimate [illegible] The Jews expect to be gathered together some day in Jerusalem, and there is nothing improbable in that expectation It is easy, and will be no cheap, now that the railroad will be quite handy, to go from here to Missouri, as to come from the extreme north of Europe to Zion We advise them contemplating removing things to [illegible] the practice of polygamy before going there, and to cultivate a spirit of reverence for [illegible] institutions, as they will the more readily be welcomed. That State is now under the control of Gentile Republicans, who don't do things by halves and would be apt to look awry at the remaining "pile of barbarism," that they made such stern resolves against a few years ago. The other half of the "twin" has been knocked in the head in that State, and they would not tolerate this half now. At least we think so, and advise accordingly. In other respects, the industrious, orderly Mormons will be as likely to thrive there, or anywhere else in the United States, as the industrious and orderly of any other denomination the Church [illegible] and Church organs here to the contrary notwithstanding

The oldest remnant of mortality extant is the skeleton of one of the earlier Pharaohs, found in one of its original burial robes, and carefully perfect considering its age, which was deposited about eighteen or twenty months ago in the British Museum, and is justly considered the most valuable of its archæological treasures. The lid of the coffin which contained the royal mummy, was inscribed by the name of its occupant, Pharaoh Mykerinus, who [illegible] the head of the builder of the great pyramids [illegible] two centuries before Christ Only think of it; the monarch whose crumbling bones and leathery integuments are now exciting the wonder of numerous gazers in London reading in Egypt before Abraham was born, and only about two centuries or so after Mizraim, the grandson of old father Noah and the first of the Pharaohs had been gathered to his fathers

Oregon Wool Interests.

[From the Albany Journal.]

A few weeks ago, some of the papers of this valley mentioned the foul condition of several invoices of wool shipped from this State to the Mission Woolen Mills at San Francisco; but as it was reported that the State Agricultural Society would take some action in regard to this fraud, which was bringing dishonor upon the State, we thought proper to remain silent until the Society should take the initiative. It seems they never noticed the matter, and the scoundrelism which has depressed the market and almost stopped the sale of one of the great staples of the State, is allowed to stalk unbranded, of at least public scorn.

We supposed they would take means to get the names of the several unworthy wool-growers and post them throughout the coast, and recommend some legislative action to prevent the like offenses in the future. They have done nothing in the premises; and those interested in wool production must revive an interest in the matter, if they wish to re-instate themselves fairly in markets out of the State.

Last summer, Messrs. McCully and Patton, of Salem, two gentlemen who have the most sincere and direct interests in the material prosperity of Oregon, and indeed of the whole coast, without any object of personal profit, took the agency to disburse about $100,000 in the purchase of wool for the San Francisco manufacturers. They were to receive only 2½ per cent., which would merely cover the bare charges of the agency, their object being to put the cash in the farmers' pockets instead of being compelled to sell to local merchants in most instances for trade at reduced prices.

Along the Willamette river they established sub-agencies at the principal towns and landings, and furnished bagging, which was taken and packed in most instances by the wool-growers. When wool to the amount of about $65,000 had reached San Francisco, they received notice by telegraph that it was being received in the most fraudulent condition. Thinking there must be something exaggerated and mistaken on the part of their San Francisco correspondents, Messrs. Patton and McCully both started for California, and when they arrived there gentlemen found, to their dismay, that the half had not been told them! About twenty Chinamen were set to work overhauling the whole lot, and some of tags and cotton were taken from the mass, briefs lots being watered to add to the weight, which destroyed the fibre and rendered the wool comparatively worthless for any purpose. In some instances over one pound tags were affixed to five-pound fleeces. The conclusion was, they lost all their commissions, and the San Francisco dealers claim a further reclamation of about $2,000.

The purchasers at San Francisco will hereafter refuse to make any discrimination in favor of Oregon wool unless twenty-five per cent. of the price is left in their hands for contingent reclamations. Their resolution was next year to make Arrangements to purchase the entire wool crop of Oregon, which would have an effect on the competition with the local mills, and kept the price of this staple at the fullest rates. As it is, they have withdrawn all orders, and next season producers will be in the hands of a limited home market and outside speculators, who can, and will keep the prices at the lowest point.

This fraud strikes at the heart of the productive industry of the State; and if not guarded against repetition, in the future may involve the loss of millions to wool growers alone, especially those who honorably use care and labor in producing and shipping this staple.

The remedy can only be a rigid inspection law, so as no fraudulently packed lots shall leave the State to further injure the market. Every producer should be obliged to mark his name upon the packages, and a State Inspector should be stationed at Portland, who would be empowered to condemn certain per centage of shipment. We hope the next Legislature will take some action upon this important measure. There are also other products of this State that would be greatly benefitted by some wholesome legislation at home ports; and we hope that every one interested in the prosperity of the State will look upon this as permanent legislation at the next session of Oregon law makers.

Soldiers Monument.

The following, relating to a monument erected in the Court House square of Grant county, Wisconsin, and dedicated to the memory of the soldiers of that county who fell fighting for liberty, will be read with particular interest by many families from Grant county now residing on this coast. The work was dedicated on the 4th of July last, on which occasion an appropriate oration was delivered by General H. E. Paine. The Milwaukie Sentinel says:

The people started a subscription last spring for the purpose of erecting a monument to the memory of the soldiers of Grant county who perished for the country during the late war; and the result was the beautiful obelisk which now adorns the court house square, saying to the stranger who passes by, "Thus lives that Grant honors her patriot dead!" The monument consists of a main shaft, which, with its pedestal and base, stands twenty-five feet high, and is surmounted by eight fosser columns, each of which is a square shaft, having for a capital a block, supporting a sculptured cannon. Upon the eight columns are inscribed the names of all the soldiers of Grant county who died or were killed during the war, the regiment and company of each being given. Upon the east front of the principal column in the center is the following inscription:

"Dedicated to the memory of the brave soldiers of Grant county, who fell in defense of universal liberty, in the great rebellion of 1861. This marble contains their dust—the many bloody battle-fields of the South contain their ashes—their memory is forever enshrined in the hearts of their countrymen."

Upon the south front is a relievo of a slave whose manacles have been broken, and who is raising hands in exultation and thankfulness. Beneath it is the motto, from the Emancipation Proclamation:

"I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves * * are and henceforth shall be free."

Upon the west front are carved four sheathed sabres, crossed, and underneath them the somewhat dubious couplet:

"Go, stranger, to your country tell,
For her we fought, we're buried where we fell."

The north front contains, under a carved anchor and wreath, the following appropriate passage from Lincoln's address at the dedication of the Gettysburg cemetery:

We here highly resolve that these honored dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that the government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from this earth."

Surmounting the whole as a capital to the central shaft, is the American eagle, rampant. The material of the columns is the best of Vermont marble, whose whiteness is not even dimmed by contrast with the freshly fallen snow that lies around. The bases are of Illinois marble. The design and execution of the whole work is excellent, reflecting credit upon the Wisconsin artist, (S. D. Wright, of Whitewater) who furnished the monument. The cost of the affair was $8,000. It is the first thing of the kind that has been erected in Wisconsin, though it is not likely to be the last.

HIS UNFITNESS FOR OFFICE.—The fact that Mr. Johnson refuses to recognize this condition of his duty, and prefers instead to obey the promptings of mercenary adherents and unscrupulous pettifoggers, is proof that he can no longer be intrusted with the administration of the law. The functionary who examines the law simply that he may bring it to naught, by that circumstance demonstrates his unfitness for office. And the Executive who assails authority which Congress intended to make independent of him, and employs the accidental advantages of a constitutional position to pick holes in measures formed to provide for the safety and unity of the Republic, provokes harsher means of restraint than have yet been employed against him.—N. Y. Times.

MARRIED SOLDIER.—An order from the British War Office has been recently issued limiting the number of soldiers who are to receive permission to marry, to seven per cent. of the whole establishment of a corps, and further requiring that no man shall obtain such permission who is not in possession of a good conduct badge. At the same time, the privileges of married soldiers are greatly increased.

Gen. Grant and President Johnson.

[From the London Morning Star, Sept. 10th.]

The American papers now to hand show us the grounds upon which the statement was founded, that Gen. Grant had refused to carry out the President's order for the removal of Gen. Sheridan from New Orleans. The telegram went too far. Gen. Grant did not refuse to obey the order, but he protested against it. The correspondence which passed between the President and himself on the subject is published. It shows the plain, honest, good-sense of the General, and the wrong-headedness of Mr. Johnson in a very striking manner. Never had a man who had made a blunder a finer opening offered for a retreat from his wrong position than that which the new Secretary of War offered to the President. It was not one of his political opponents who was giving him advice. On the contrary, it was the very man whom Mr. Johnson had himself chosen to fill a most important office. General Grant was hardly likely to be a very pliant tool in the hands of the President. Mr. Johnson must have been well aware of that fact. He must have known that the General was spirited, chivalrous in the defense of the man with whom he had served, and above all, honest and true in his devotion to his country's best interests. If Mr. Johnson believed otherwise he is as dull of perception as he is obstinate and wrong-headed. Yet, no sooner was Grant installed in office than the President ordered him to carry out a policy of which the minister thoroughly disapproved, and displace a man who was doing his duty to the best of his great ability. General Grant obeyed as a soldier should; but before obeying he wrote, as a statesman of State ought to write, the reasons why, in his opinion, the action of the President was wrong. It is impossible to read his letter without feeling that he has the best of the argument. The President's reply to this is a good specimen of the vague generalities with which he has hitherto defended most of his acts. He declares that Sheridan's rule was simple tyranny; and, in direct contradiction to General Grant, asserts that Sheridan has failed in carrying out, in Louisiana, the work designed by Congress. Upon a question of this kind we are led to inquire who is the best authority; the man who has opposed it to the utmost the reconstruction policy of Congress, or the man who has given it his loyal support? No one found fault with General Sheridan save the President and those in the South which it was the object of Congress to deprive of the power to do harm. The devisers of the policy which it was Sheridan's business to carry into effect were satisfied with the manner in which he did it. * * * * The moment is a critical one for Mr. Johnson. Once the indignation of the North is fully raised against him, he will find it impossible to make a stand against it. The threats of impeachment made some time ago are renewed with a force and frequency that prove they will be carried into execution unless the President withdraw from the false position which he has taken, and yields to the advice of men like General Grant, who, wishing him well, still love their country too dearly to sacrifice its best interests for the sake of their own personal liking for one man.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.—The Democratic State Convention was held in Albany, Oct. 3d and 4th. The Tribune says: Homer A. Nelson was nominated for Secretary of State, Mr. Hall for Comptroller, Chas. Gallia for Attorney-General, Martin Grover for Court of Appeals, and Jas. Wm. F. Allen for Canal Commissioner. A few hours session to-day, but the work of the Democratic Convention. Few bodies of this character have been more orderly and ripe. To-day, there was more than yesterday, but by careful management the leaders prevented any open rupture. The platform was made up after a good deal of argument by a few. Fare, and submitted to the Convention with the avid of [illegible] flag to it.

When it got before the Convention the fight commenced by Mr. McKeon, who predicted that if the party went before the people with such principles they would be beaten at the polls by over 20,000 majority. He said they had been trimming long enough, and it was now time for them to take a broad stand for true Democratic principles. These were, opposition to the tariff, opposition to paying the public debt in gold, opposition to all laws restricting the sale of liquors; any more than any other article of merchandise, and assessment of State rights, and of the principle that all the national bonds should be taxed. The loud approval of Mr. McKeon's views created so much alarm among the [illegible] that for a time, they were unable to make any movement. This emboldened Mr. McKeon and Mr. Lawrence of Queens, to offer amendments embodying one of these principles, to-wit, that the public debt should be paid in coin. It was as soon as it was read, John B. Haskin took the floor; and told the Convention that if they put it, they would lay themselves open to the imputation that they wanted to repudiate the National Debt. He thought the party had better wait until it got power and then it would carry out its principles it thought best for the country. This speech of Haskin stemmed the tide, and members soon gave avidence that they had better adopt his plan, even if it was the dishonest one. A motion was made to table Mr. McKeon's amendment asserting that greenbacks were as good as gold in payment of public debts, and it was carried, after which President Seymour, through Secretary Perrin, prepared a compromise amendment which promised that when the Democratic party gained power it would make the currency equal in value to gold. This was carried and tacked on to the second resolution which favors "equality of taxation," or in other words, that bonds should be taxed like other property.

N. Y. HERALD ON IMPEACHMENT.—The following shows how foolish some of the President's supporters can talk:

The Herald's correspondent writes: Should the Radicals attempt the suspension of the President, I am assured Mr. Johnson would resist. In such an event serious trouble must result. Even the introduction of a resolution of suspension and the attempt to pass it, would be regarded by the President as a casus belli. It is said that the President would not even allow such a resolution to pass. He would regard its presentation as a revolutionary act, and would immediately issue a proclamation representing that an attempt was about to be made to depose him unlawfully. He would adjourn the two Houses and call upon the army and navy to support him. Would the army and navy respond? It is hard to tell. Grant, pestered and harassed on all sides, keeps his own counsel. He says nothing, and yet each side claims him as an ally. The conservatives proclaim he was already inclined towards them, while the radicals, on the other hand, point to his course in relation to Sheridan, Sickles and Stanton, and his correspondence with the President thereon, and infer that therefore he is with them. I am inclined to think that the reticence of the General-in-Chief is not owing altogether to a desire to conceal his real sentiments, but simply to the fact that he intends to guide himself by circumstances; should the President prorogue Congress before the passage of a resolution of suspension, Grant will then probably, as a soldier, feel himself bound to obey the orders of Mr. Johnson. But should Congress succeed in passing a resolution of suspension and elect Wade President ad interim, then Grant will look to Wade for directions and become the servant of Congress.

A HUMAN BODY PETRIFIED.—A woman, wife of a blacksmith who formerly lived on Broadway, and who died some seventeen years ago, was interred in one of the burial grounds on the hill. Last week her friends went there for the purpose of removing the body. On opening the grave, the coffin crumbled to pieces, and the body lay there as whole as when deposited. The skin was black, and covered with a substance similar to moss, and presented a moldy appearance. On feeling the body it was found to be quite hard, and a further examination developed the fact that it was petrified. The black surface was scraped off the skin, when the latter presented a beautiful white appearance, similar to that of our marble. This is a truly remarkable circumstance, and elicits the wonder of all who have heard of it. Our informant says a coffin in which a child of his was inclosed, and which had been in the earth twenty years, appeared as well as the day it was placed in the ground.—Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker.

ENTERPRISING JOURNALISM.—A New York correspondent says the Herald claims to expend $1,560,000 per annum, and the Tribune and Times about $1,000,000 each in the publication of their journals.

Impeachable Offenses.

The Constitution of the United States provides that "the President, Vice President and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of, treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors." Of these impeachable offenses, treason alone is defined in that instrument. As the other offenses are not defined at all by the Constitution, we must look outside of that instrument for their meaning. What are these "high crimes and misdemeanors" for which the President may be impeached and removed from office? We must ascertain what these words meant at the time the Constitution was framed and adopted.

The framers of our Constitution copied the words from the definition of impeachable conduct given in British constitutional law. The words are capable of no very precise definition, nor was it intended they should be so; for it would be impossible to anticipate and define with accuracy every case which might render, or ought to render, an officer liable to impeachment. An able writer in a late number of the American Law Register says that as the words were copied from the British Constitution, "therefore whatever crimes or misdemeanors the British Parliament in England prior to the adoption of our Constitution, and afterwards by its precedents, are subjects of impeachment at the Senate of the United States, are liable to the limitations of the Constitution." The law is not limited to crimes defined as such by statute. Eminent English authorities say that officers may be impeached and removed for acts not legally cognizable before the ordinary tribunals. Such has been the practice in England for centuries. Our own Constitution excludes the idea that the mere omission of a presiding officer to perform his duty, by declaring that the object of impeachment is simply to remove from and disqualify the person against whom it is taken; and that judgment shall not extend further than to such removal and disqualification. The Mobile Register says that the Democratic party never supported Johnson's policy. Some people have short memories. Though it seems singular enough that one who aspires to be a leading politician could not remember that the second and third resolutions of the last Democratic platform of Ohio were almost wholly devoted to an endorsement of Johnson's policy.

The members of the Pueblo Land League have commenced action against the Board of Supervisors. The plaintiffs allege in substance that the city is the owner in title to the Pueblo for four square leagues of land, granted to said city for its use, and that of its inhabitants; that the Board of Supervisors are the legal successors of the Mexican Alcade and Ayuntamento of the Pueblo, and as such are charged with the execution of the trust; that there are several thousand acres of land belonging to the Pueblo and located within the limits of the city; that they are desirable to the inhabitants for homes, but are now held by speculators and capitalists in large tracts, who are selling them for purposes of gain and speculation. They close with a prayer that defendants be enjoined from making any distribution of these lands in tracts of 100 varas square, and that they be perpetually enjoined from carrying into execution Order No. 753; and further, that they be enjoined from destroying the plaintiff's petition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—It is understood that the Washington Intelligencier, the President's organ, will publish to-morrow a letter from the Postmaster General on the political situation of the country. He maintains that if Congress had not interfered with the policy of the Administration, the vexed question of reconstruction would long since have been settled to the satisfaction of the whole country, and to-day there would have been a representation by loyal men in every Southern State. This letter places Randall squarely in sympathy with Johnson.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The resignation of General Kilpatrick, Captain in the regular army, has been accepted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Seventy-five hundred naturalizations have been effected here recently under the auspices of the Democratic Committee; five hundred under the Republicans.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 21.—The Enquirer, of this city will bring out the name of Geo. H. Pendleton to-morrow as the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency. It is thought that he will be far more available than Gen. B. McClellan, whose claims for the nomination are being quietly pushed by his friends. The War Democrats, however, it is understood generally, demand a soldier for the position, so as to counteract the military influence of Grant and Sheridan, one of whom, it is supposed, will be the Presidential nominee of the Republican party.

A special from Galena, Illinois, to the Chicago Tribune states that Elihu B. Washburne made a speech at the Republican Convention of Jo Daviess county on the 6th of October, in which he defined the position of General Grant. He said the General sustained the abolition of slavery and supports Congress in its action, endorses the reconstruction bills, advocates impartial suffrage, and is a Radical Republican, never having belonged to the Democratic party. Mr. Washburne said that General Grant accepted the War Department from a sense of duty to his country, and that the step was taken with the full concurrence of Secretary Stanton with whom the General freely conferred on the subject.

QUESTIONABLE EVIDENCE.—Judge Walker, of Detroit, in an application for a divorce from a woman alleged (by deposition) to have committed adultery in a house of ill-fame, refused to grant the petition, saying he could not accept the testimony of persons who frequent such houses unless they give their evidence in his presence, and are submitted to a rigid examination.

DR. C. W. COOL

Has Returned to Portland, and can be found at his residence on

Third St., bet. Alder and Washington,

Those who desire FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED ARTIFICIAL PALATE, the nature of his improvement consisting in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It makes the plate twice as strong and one-third thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from corroding the plate, and from rendering it black, which is a common occurrence. One-half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly after tobacco is used for chewing. His new style of plate adults of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has made application to the United States Patent Office for a patent. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his residence and office on Third street. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

INDIAN AFFAIRS IN EASTERN OREGON.—Gov. Woods and family arrived at this city by the Hunt. The Governor has just come down from La Grande where he went to learn something of the condition of Union and Baker [illegible] with respect to Indian hostilities. He met at that place a number of persons from the neighborhood of [illegible] Auburn and other points in the interior, who placed him in possession of such material facts as they had and which may be made serviceable to the plan of [illegible] settlers and miners. In the brief interview we had with the Governor there was time only to get in general terms of the state of things in Eastern Oregon. We gathered, however, that the Burnt river country is in a bad condition and that the settlers may have to abandon the outside settlements unless they can have [illegible] protection. We have heard the opinion expressed a few days, by a gentleman who has had serious military experience, that the number of Indians in that country is not great, but that they are very active and very ugly. Gov. Woods received the same impression from those with whom he conferred in relation to the matter. He is hopeful that something can be done yet this fall to give protection to the last red region.

LATER.—Since writing the above we learn that Gen. Steele has just issued an order, detailing a company of cavalry from one of the Owyhee posts, to go picket duty in the Burnt river district. These are ordered to escort trains, [illegible] the travel and settlers, and whenever the opportunity shall occur, to [illegible] the Indians. This news will be hailed by [illegible] Grande neighbors with delight. The company of cavalry will, in ordinary activity, not afford ample protection to most of the country where trouble now exists, and perhaps convince the people that our [illegible] and the military authorities are not deaf to their calls.

CIRCUIT COURT FOR CLACKAMAS COUNTY.—Through the kindness of [illegible], Clerk of the Court, and without, of this city, we have the proceedings of the Circuit Court for Clackamas County, since Monday:

State of Oregon vs. Peter A. Weide; motion for change of [illegible] granted.

The grand jury [illegible] in the [illegible] against J. E. Welch, for [illegible] and larceny with intent to kill; also, [illegible] against J. D. [illegible] for the crime of seduction.

Mansfield vs. [illegible] to W. W. Pitt[illegible]; appeal from J. P.; order on [illegible] by transcript.

J. Hedges vs. The Co[illegible]ering Co.; [illegible] at cost of [illegible].

J. W. [illegible] vs. The C[illegible]-k Lumbering Co.; dismissed at cost of [illegible].

J. W. Moss vs. J. Morgan; judgment for plaintiff of $[illegible].

D. Harvey vs. W. P. Burn. D. Harvey [illegible] from the decision of the Clerk in taxation of costs. Decision reversed; [illegible] fee to J. M. Moore of $6 50.

[illegible] Fuller, Executor of the Holbrook [illegible] vs. G. Bidwell, judgment for plaintiff for $702.

[illegible] vs. [illegible], Executor, vs. J. C. Tauman, Judge of the [illegible]. Discovery [illegible] and plaintiff has custody of [illegible].

[illegible] vs. [illegible]. Nine or Thirteen.—The second and [illegible] game in the match between the Spartans and the [illegible] of the [illegible], was played on the [illegible] ground on Saturday. The following is the score:

Left on bases—[illegible] 4; Spartans 0. Time of game, [illegible] minutes. E. Hendrickson of the Spartans made [illegible] run. D. Baughman of the Pioneers made [illegible] run. [illegible] out with the ball before [illegible] got to the base. Struck out—[illegible] by [illegible]; by Hendrickson, 4; by Baughman, 6. Passed balls—[illegible] by Hendrickson, 1; by Baughman, 1. Umpire—[illegible]. Scorers for Spartans; [illegible] for Pioneers.

[illegible] Hendrickson of the Spartans [illegible] that there is in [illegible] a clerk in a store—who [illegible] some of the most [illegible] powers as a spiritual [illegible]. If what we hear be [illegible] we do not know [illegible] to question it—this young man [illegible] of the Savior's part[illegible]. He goes [illegible] into a room in which he places [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of the Spirit part[illegible]. He goes in and [illegible] tightly bound [illegible] and [illegible] with the cord in such a way as precludes [illegible] ability of having done it himself. Persons [illegible] bind him, with hard square knots in [illegible] to get [illegible] for him to [illegible] or teeth to the knots, or to get [illegible] to [illegible]; and yet [illegible] always succeeds [illegible] fully free from the cord, with every knot, [illegible] Aid. These, however, the [illegible] marvelous. Total disbelievers in [illegible] have tried the [illegible] often, without [illegible] in the minute. They aver that they have [illegible] positive as plain to the suspicion of collusion. [illegible] any deception person. They do [illegible] for the phenomenon they say they [illegible] mean gets into, and [illegible] knots and ties of the cord, [illegible] almost miraculous.

THE FATE OF MR. DUNCAN.—The Idaho Statesman of [illegible] has the following in relation to the probable [illegible] Mr. Duncan, who fell into the hands of the Indians a few days since. We publish yesterday morning [illegible] of the Walla Walla [illegible] of the stock [illegible] belonging to the Expedition. Up to last [illegible] had been [illegible] Nez Perces men, women and [illegible] gathered together in one lodge and believed to be in this vicinity—and these confined in the city jail for safe keeping. [illegible] been done to [illegible] to some strategy to [illegible] account of the vigilant lookout the Indians [illegible]. Most of the Indians have been around [illegible] time. To avoid surprise and capture, they [illegible] have always had one or more of their men [illegible] on the arrival of the Oregon City [illegible] and [illegible] dressed with the Indian generally. [illegible] the people [illegible] they immediately [illegible] to the camps. In this way, [illegible] could be safe to show them [illegible] it behooved them to "keep [illegible] and [illegible] will start this morning [illegible] the Nez Perce nation.

[illegible] HORSE.—A horse attached to the [illegible] Express company, took it into his head yesterday [illegible] to create a [illegible] in the street, and [illegible] from the corner of Taylor and First, [illegible] the latter, at [illegible] more than the [illegible] per hour. At Dolph & Pratt's store, the [illegible] went on. At Brick's place, near Morrison, the [illegible] through to think he could [illegible] and came down here and wheels up. The cart was stove, [illegible] the harness; but that he was [illegible] to [illegible] of the [illegible] particular line of acrobatic performances [illegible].

THE TROTTING MATCH.—The first trotting race yesterday at the [illegible] track, was an exciting one. Belle [illegible] won the 1st heat in 2:50; Mohawk won the 2d in 2:55 and the 3d in 2:58; Sallie won the 4th in 2:55 and the 5th, winning the purse. The second race [illegible] Lion and Banks. The heat was [illegible] in 3:06, California Lion being drawn off, and [illegible] by the sale being distanced—Bank's race and [illegible].

THE PRESS.—Mr. C. B. McDonald, late [illegible] the American Flag, at San Francisco, well [illegible] the "Triple Thunderer," came passenger by the [illegible] and called on us last evening. He goes [illegible] to-day and will [illegible] city, remain there. We learn [illegible] such a [illegible]sman from Salem that it is expected Mr. [illegible] will take the editorial charge of the [illegible].

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—Regular meeting, Wednesday evening, Oct. 30. His Honor the Mayor called the Council to order, when the following members answered to their names: Messrs. Besser, Burch, Porter and Rosenfeld. Absent—Messrs. Freibleuger, Halleck, Mullen, Smith and Ripley 5. There being no quorum, the Council adjourned.

THE SCHOONER "QUEEN."—The schooner A. Crosby, from Victoria, arrived yesterday morning, at our dock, in tow by the steamer Okanagan. Her cargo is [illegible] of 106 tons of Nanaimo coal, for the Portland Gas Co., 54 casks and 23 cases of salt for Stokes & Ellis, who is discharging coal at the flax works.

[illegible]—Mary Carr and Nicholas Robinson, colored, were [illegible] yesterday on complaint of J. F. Stark, [illegible], charging them with stealing two watches and $18 in coin. They gave bail for their appearance this [illegible] when they will have an examination before the [illegible].

NEW MILLS.—We learn that recently an extensive and rich [illegible] has been [illegible] several between Mormon [illegible] and Willow creek. Its extent has not yet been [illegible], prospecting being more or less hindered by the [illegible] threatened from the marauders.

THE "LIVE YANKEE."—When the Crosby came in on [illegible] at the [illegible] of the Columbia, the Live Yankee was off [illegible]. She made an attempt to get in, but after [illegible] was also her own skipper to put back. She [illegible] in the river but a few [illegible].

LATE PAPERS.—Upon the arrival of the steamer last evening, Mr. Charles Barrett, as usual, furnished us copies of the latest Eastern papers, pictorials and magazines. His customers will find him in full supply this morning.

WHEAT.—There is no change in wheat as to price. The arrivals by team have been a little more free for two or three days than for the greater part of a week previous.

IN THE RIVER.—The schooner Wm. L. Morris, from San Francisco with cargo of merchandise, is reported in the Columbia and on her way up to this port.

THE RACES.—See advertisement of races to-day at the Riverside Track—great opening for fun, they say. A large number are in attendance daily.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Hand, of the Mountaineer, gave us a call last evening. He will go to the Dalles to-morrow.

THE "ORIFLAMME."—The steamship Oriflamme arrived at San Francisco yesterday.

THE RACES came off at the Riverside Track, yesterday, and the spotted horse won; but the race for Barman Bros. custom made clothing still goes on, and whoever buys wins.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. G. W. Cool's professional advertisement appears this morning. We last evening saw one of his specimens of vulcanite plates, lined with gold—a very neat specimen of workmanship, indeed. The Doctor claims that the use of the lining enables him to make the vulcanite plate at least one-third lighter and yet stronger than it is possible to do without it. He has applied for a patent for the combination of material and his claim has been allowed. It seems to us that this style of work must commend itself to all who are unfortunate enough to require dental plates and teeth.

The Proprietor of the LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT takes pleasure in informing his friends and the public in general, that from this date, and during the oyster season, he will keep his establishment open at night until 2 o'clock A. M., and will serve Oysters and Suppers in every style.

Remonstrance

Daughters of Eve your mother did not well
She fell the temptation to her father's hand,
And we have read O many her what befell—
The man was not deceived nor evil stand
He did me to leave for her Their throne—
With her e fell he but child in love alone

Daughters I love h did not fall so w
Nor fall s far as that sweet woman fell
For something better than as gods I know
That subsided in that he left it to fall
For this till I refer ed less than sure
Shall man be first and best reverence

Daughters I love h rest for their sake
The world s first hero died an uncrowned king,
But God s great ty t noted the grand mistake
And made his married love a sacred thing
For yet his nobler woes Naught is true
Find the lost Eden in their love for you

A Miser's Wealth

As every now and then the descendants in this country of the "Jennings Family" are excited by news from Europe of an immense fortune they are sure to share (when it comes), we copy from the London Times the following interesting particulars in relation to it for their especial benefit

This enormous property, variously estimated at from two to seven millions sterling, and including estates in various counties in England, and money in all the old banks in London, is still in vigor in dispute It was left by an extraordinary miser named William Jennings, described in the Annual Register of 1798, as the "richest commoner in England" He was born in 1701, and died at his seat, Acton Hall near Long Milford Suffolk, immortalized as one of the most splendid private edifices in Great Britain and boasting a ballroom (which was never once used) constructed at a cost of £30,000 Notwithstanding his incalculable wealth, so mean were the habits of this old man that he lived in the very underground story of his great house, permitting for the space of nearly thirty years, the approach of no woman He died unmarried and childless, and left he will. The Baroness Howe took perversion of the old man's property, through a claim of intermarriage between a member of the Jennings family with that of the Cowpers. Administration was however, not granted for eight teen years. William Jennings was the godson of King William III., and served as page to that monarch In connection also with his family at this period were Sarah Jennings, afterwards Duchess of Marlborough, Frances Jennings (her sister), the Marchioness of Tyrconnell; the wife of Richard Talbot, the Lord Deputy of Ireland, for King James II., and, little at it is supposed Mrs Hills, afterwards the rival and successor of the Duchess in the affections and favor of Queen Anne—Mrs Masham, in reality the creator of the fortunes of Harley, Earl of Oxford Mrs. Masham was a cousin of the Duchess of Marlborough, and was introduced at court by her. Frances, the Marchioness of Tyrconnell was, in the days of her distress, the celebrated "white milliner" appearing in the domestic history of Count I, and commemorated in a modern comedy. Sonnes Jennyns, the philosopher, and Constantine Jennings (there are eleven different ways of spelling the name) the possessor of three fortunes, who, notwithstanding, died in poverty in 1813, in the Rules of the King's Bench Prison, and who is known as "Dog Jennings," on account of his purchase of "Alcibiades' Dog," were also of this family. The supposed figure of "Alcibiades' Dog" cost two thousand guineas However, the public interest in regard to a property and a story which read were like romance than plain matter of fact, rests in the circumstance that the property is still in litigation, new claimants appearing every day. The Earl Howe, Earl Beauchamp and other speakers of article rank, claiming of family (though remote) with the original family, are in part five, although the claim has been always protested against, of their proportion property. Altogether the attraction of this great property, lying open to the heirship of some persons unknown, and yet, if at all discoverable, drawing either not only from the United States, but, to say, the whole, from the Cape of Good Hope, India and Australia, Ireland and Scotland, which countries have sent to England claimants in profusion, with the proportion of lawyers and Eastern Such is a story of

Two in the Woods—An Incident in Australia

An English paper has this story from Australia: Two boys, sons, born, of Daylesford, in Victoria, started into the bush to look for some runaway cattle The eldest was only seven, but a bushman and had often been a companion for a play days with him, and they was the two and ran about, and the day fell, and the boys were not found. Next morning, however, the little child was discovered by a boy who had gone to search for the missing ones, and was found fast asleep on the ground, and by his side was the body of his little brother, who had evidently died in the night. The poor little fellow had wandered about in search of his brother, and, overcome by fatigue, had lain down to sleep. The body was found about a quarter of a mile from the spot where the child was discovered. The bushmen had been searching all night, and were about to give up the search when the boy who found the child came in with the news. The little fellow was found lying on his back, with his arms stretched out towards the Warrihee Ranges, and his face turned in the direction of home. The wood cutters in the camp, and the third day was thus passed in a vigorous search. Still no trace or sign of the lost boy was discovered, but on the third day, as a faint footmark going in the direction towards the Warrihee Ranges, and the wood cutters in the camp, and the third day was thus passed in a vigorous search. Still no trace or sign of the lost boy was discovered, but on the third day, as a faint footmark going in the direction towards the Warrihee Ranges, and the wood cutters in the camp, and the third day was thus passed in a vigorous search. Still no trace or sign of the lost boy was discovered, but on the third day, as a faint footmark going in the direction towards the Warrihee Ranges, and the wood cutters in the camp, and the third day was thus passed in a vigorous search. Still no trace or sign of the lost boy was discovered, but on the third day, as a faint footmark going in the direction towards the Warrihee Ranges, and was settled at a public meeting that all hands should strike work and go to look for the body.

Next day (the fourth) every shop was shut, every tool and implement was left idle, six or seven hundred men, women and boys turned out in all directions into the dense scrub to hunt the strayed one up. Seventy pounds were collected on the spot for the finder, though no one wanted that incentive, and the mayor at the station still kept the whistle going all day to guide the little feet home. Fifty or more will shots are fired For days now kindly souls of the Victorian town ship kept at the hunt. It was in vain at the end of the week the shops had to be reopened and work carefully resumed, for the children could not be discovered. The heart-broken pa to publicly thanked their neighbors for doing all that human gen ous and good will could do, and so the sad story terrative ends, for the children were has lately lost and must have laid down in the wilds to die. It will be hereafter a colonial tale to match our British "Babes in the Wood," with the blue bird and the bull bird for "cock robin," and the gum tree Devil devil folk to make a pleas and vera land of the "wicked uncle"

THE ABYSSINIAN ARMY.—A writer in the Liberator of Theodore's army as follows

A few thousand filthy brawlers, armed for the most part with javelins and long straight swords with the Ethiopian dagger fixed to their arm—among them a few muskets, with or without flints It is true that those European sovereigns who have taken Tedros as servant have presented him with superb guns, with all sorts of fancy arms and knick-knacks, but I will answer for it that with the exception of the gun of the Negus Tedros himself, repaired by European hands, there is not a musket in all Abyssinia that would go off The people have already broken them to see what was inside" This is a very different story from that told by the Count du Biseau. Of the two it is the more credible.

DEATH OF A NEGRO KING WHO HAS SACRIFICED MORE THAN 20,000 LIVES.—From advices received by the French mail from the West Coast of Africa we learn of the death of the warrior chief Gezo, who has for the last six years been a fearful scourge among the native tribes inhabiting country bordering on the English and French territories in the Bight of Benin. With fire and sword he established the religion of Islam, killing all those who would not shave their heads and swear on the Koran their adherence to his faith It has been computed that no less than twenty thousand human beings have been killed or have died through starvation, or have been abducted and sold into slavery, by this monster, under the cloak of religion

There was once a Count Wall hotel keeper who had de- Alters in his day been a sailor "Yankee whittle-maker," but who at last, under the responsible pressure of a high regard at the same time for the moralities, and for the long e English, positively refused the hospitalities of his tavern to a passing traveller who entered on the register his party as "John Smith and Lady" The upright landlord in the most downright manner, did speak certain words to this effect If this woman is your wife, don t be afraid to say so on the book, and the best in the house is at your service, if she is only your lady, our rooms are all full."

A city servant girl who is a good deal on cooks, thus describes the fashion of low necked dresses. "At for lonecos the low it is the more fashunabil yo air dress. Mis Goolies gave me a blue silk of hern and I cut its neo off and Susan Simmons cut off hern, an we attpun a great eal of altanahon to our bess prominadin in the streets like other ladys and holden up our close Nobody isn t nothing now which doesn't hold up her clos, and the higher yu hold them the more yu are noticed"

A lady advertises for sale in a Southern paper one babboon, three tabby cats and a parrot She states that, being married she has no further use for them

OF THE
Throat and Lungs.

THE ROYAL BALSAM!

HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC FOR A length of time, and wherever used is highly recommended, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used and we have never known a single case of disease or affection, but on the contrary all are delighted with it and speak in the highest terms of its magical effects The astonishing efficacy of the ROYAL BALSAM, in curing the diseases for which it is recommended entitles it to the highest rank among the list of medicines, and no family can be without it after once trying it

Read the following testimonials from some of the most prominent citizens of Oregon

MIRACULOUS CURE.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir I feel it but a duty to inform you and the public what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my wife She had been affected with a severe cough for several weeks, which had assumed a dangerous feature for which many physicians have been trying without any material benefit and all the remedies failed to give her any relief. Without Teller was got I feared for the worst, in her present condition The cough appeared to be worse at night, she could get no rest when Mr Randall of this place, advised me to try your Royal Balsam all other remedies having failed, I concluded to try it, and I purchased two bottles Strange to say by the time I gave her the spoonful of the Balsam she got relief and slept, a thing she had not done for three nights previous By the time she had taken one bottle the cough was checked Its effect was truly miraculous as the cure was effected Hence I have no hesitation in recommending the Royal Balsam to all who are afflicted, and it appears astonishing to me that medicine of such great merit and I might say magical effect, is not more in use My candid opinion is if persons use it once, they can be without it in the house

Vancouver, March 1, 1867 H COCHRAN

From Wm. Doty.

DEAR DR HENLEY—It is with sincere gratitude I undertake to write to you what your Royal Balsam has done for me For the last 12 years I have been afflicted with a severe cough and what also some of the physicians called the Bronchitis, and have spent a fortune to get cured, trying all the physicians and remedies I could get to no purpose, Through the influence of my neighbors (for you have a great name with them here) I got a bottle of your Royal Balsam and finding that it relieved me considerable I sent for a half d z n more And now after one month using it I am perfectly cured I gained ten pounds within a month and feel quite a different man I send you this for publication for the benefit of humanity that through my experience others in affliction may be relieved as I have been Yours truly

WILLIAM DOTY

From Sophia M. Holman.

DEAR DR HENLEY—It is my duty to inform you and the public, what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my children Two of them had a very bad cough and could I get a bottle of the Royal Balsam and gave them some at bedtime and some in the morning and that was all that was needed to cure them I was astonished at not hearing them cough again but as it was dead if you give it in larger doses it will make the children throw up in an instant, and I think every mother ought to have a bottle of your Royal Balsam in the house, in case a child should get the croup for which it is a sure remedy as it acts like magic on children What I have seen and heard from my neighbors about the Royal Balsam I would sooner depend on it than on any prescription from any physician I have lost two children within the last year of the same disease, had I had at the time none of the Royal Balsam I am confident my dear ones would be alive now I shall always recommend it to all my friends, for I consider it a blessing and Godsend to mankind

Yours truly, SOPHIA M HOLMAN

From Drs. Bell & Parker.

We have sold a great deal of Medicine since we have been in business, and now have fifteen different kinds of Expectorants for sale. But Dr Henley s Royal Balsam takes the palm from all In fact we sell six bottles of Royal Balsam to one of any other kind—and really it seems of no use to keep any other During our experience we have never seen any medicine that gives the satisfaction the Royal Balsam does as it proves by the results daily coming in from the country of old Chronic cases, when nothing else would remove the dreadful cough they had I find it is good for Bronchitis and Asthma We acknowledge it is a pleasure to sell such medicine that gives such universal satisfaction

BELL & PARKER,
Druggists Oregon City

From W. F. Barbier.

DR HENLEY—Dear Sir I had the Asthma for the last four years so bad that it came near choking me I tried all the patent medicines recommended for the cure of Asthma without doing me the least good "till I was told to try some of your Royal Balsam which I did several afflicted with the same disease has performed wonders I am using it now for a week and strange to say I have not experienced anything since and I really believe that I am perfectly cured and I shall never fail to recommend a bottle of the Royal Balsam as the best remedy for a similar attack, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all afflicted with the same disease

I am Yours truly
W F BARBIER

From J. H. Morrill.

DEAR DR HENLEY—I think it but justice to you that those few lines should be said known to the public for there is so much humbug going on in quack nostrums now a days that I had lost all faith in everything in the shape of medicine I was induced with what is called Dr Schilich s for the last thirty years I coughed and was exceedingly ill at one time I called one of the best physicians in the Atlantic States and he told me that he could not do no purpose I could get no relief and I really thought there was no relief for me at last the old I was induced to try a bottle of your Royal Balsam and I had a most terrible effect on me and before I had used up four bottles the cough left me and I can talk as loud as anybody my wife and myself do not know what to make of it My old cough that if they knew the value of the Royal Balsam there is not a family in the country that would be with out it, I think it is not a better medicine in existence for Schilich s cough than the Royal Balsam and I conscientiously recommend to all so afflicted to give it a fair trial

I remain yours, truly,
